Letters to Jackie Book Signing with Ellen Fitzpatrick

Within seven weeks of President John F. Kennedy's death in 1963, Jacqueline Kennedy received more than 800,000 condolence letters. Two years later, the volume would exceed 1.5 million letters. For the next 46 years, the letters would remain essentially untouched. Now, historian and News Hour with Jim Lehrer commentator Ellen Fitzpatrick has selected approximately 250 of these messages for Letters to Jackie. The first book ever to examine this extraordinary collection, Letters to Jackie captures the eloquence of so-called ordinary Americans across generations, regions, race, political leanings and religion. Letters to Jackie will be available for purchase before and following the author's presentation. For seating reservations, call 214-747-6660, ext. 6623, or email programs@jfk.org. Museum parking is $5 per vehicle.
