Texas Civil War Museum

760 Jim Wright Freeway North
White Settlement, TX 76108
817-246-2323

The largest collection of Civil War artifacts west of the Mississippi River are on display at the Texas Civil War Museum. The museum is a collaborative effort involving private collectors Ray and Judy Richey and The Texas Division United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The museum has more than 3,000 artifacts which will rotate on exhibit. Among the artifacts is a collection of more than 60 flags valued at approximately $3 million. It is the largest collection of flags in the state of Texas. Most of the flags are from Texas units that fought for the Confederacy.

This is one of the largest private collections of Civil War artifacts in North America. It is an essential stop for anyone interested in learning more about this important part of Texas and United States history.

The museum is a non-profit entity that includes artifacts from what was the Texas Confederate Museum displayed in Austin from 1904 to 1988. The collection is controlled by The Texas Division UDC. This joint venture between private collectors and a public trust is considered rare among museum collections in the United States.

Among the featured displays at the museum is a collection of Victorian era dresses. The museum has over 200 dresses and about three dozen will be displayed on a rotating basis.

Operating hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 9am to 5pm. Admission is $6 (AD), and $3 for students (ages 7-12). Children 6 years and under are free when accompanied by an adult.
